ROBBINS'
Vegetable Panacea.
IF there is a Panacea in the world it is this preparation. It is safe and simple, particularly useful as a convenient family medicine, in sudden Colds Febrile Attacks, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Coughs, Cramp and Rheumatism, Sprains, Pains in the side, stomach, bowels or other parts of the body, Headache, Toothache, Cold hands and feet, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cholera, Fever and Ague, Chilblains, &c It rarely fails to bring out the eruptions in measles and canker rash, and these diseases are often cured with this Panacea alone. And for that most terrible of all diseases, DIPHTHERIA, this preparation has not its equal in the world.
This medicine is of recent date, but has been extensively used for the cure of the various diseases for which it is recommended, and it has proved, over a wide country, its immense superiority over every Panacea known It is the best Pain Expeller in use is highly recommended for the instantaneous relief of all pains and aches the flesh is subject to.
All persons who are subject to SORE THROAT, which, neglected, is very apt to result in that dreadful disease, DIPHTHERIA, should have this simple remedy continually by them, particularly those living away from medical aid 10s, imitation—figure of liberty on an eagle on right end, Franklin and boy on left. The signatures are engraved in the counterfeit, and in the genuine they are written The lightning, grasped by the hand of Liberty, is barely perceptible in the genuine, while in the counterfeit it is broadly defined on a dark, coarse back-ground, which in the genuine is light. On the back of the note the followers of DeSoto appear as if engaged in a terrible battle, and appear mixed up, while in the fore ground, that which is designed for a priest, bears the exact image of a monkey.

UNITED STATES COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES
50s, imitation; vig. (on left end) female effect, holding sword in left hand, her right hand resting on Bible—male bust, 50 on die above on right end. Well done and likely to deceive good judges
100s, counterfeits are in circulation. A fac simile of the genuine bill, but the engraving is not so fine They are dated May 15th, 1865. Letter B. The green ink in the back of the counterfeit is paler than that in the genuine Be careful and examine well all before taking them, as they have deceived some of our best judges.
UNITED STATES LEGAL TENDER NOTES.
10s. imitation—the portrait of Lincoln on the left end is very dark, and the eyes poor, while the toes of the female on the right end can scarcely be seen On the genuine they are very distinct. Look out for them
20s, imitations—poorly done, engraving coarse, and the bills look blurred. The green ink used is lighter than the genuine. The dies and 20s are one-eighth of an inch larger than the genuine
100s, imitated. Upper left, spread eagle sitting on a rock. The general appearance of the bill is good. The wings of the eagle are coarse and clouding streaky The imprint of the American Bank Note Company at the top is larger than on the genuine. On the right end of the back of the bill the 100 in the circles are inverted thus "100" In the genuine the 100 in the circles on the left end read thus "001," in the counterfeit they are thus "100." The paper is also heavier.
NATIONAL BANKS.
1s, altered to 10s—vig of 1s, two female figures with hands clasped, one pointing upwards. 10s having figure of Franklin drawing electricity from the clouds and on the back of the bill is DeSoto discovering the Mississippi On back of 1s, is the Landing of the Pilgrims. Well done
50s, altered from 5s; the 5s have vigs on each end —and landing of Columbus on back Look out for this alteration.

Arrest of Counterfeiters on Staten Island.

NEW YORK, July 10
Madame Juarez, wife of the Mexican President, accompanied by Senor Romero, Mexican Minister at Washington and her suite, arrived at New Orleans yesterday and was to have sailed to-day in the United States revenue cutter Wilderness, which, notwithstanding the stories current to the effect that it was ready to sail with important despatches some days ago, has been detained to carry Madame Juarez to Mexico
The Austrian soldiers in Mobile and New Orleans are to be given transportation home or permitted to settle in this country just as they choose

NEW YORK, July 10
The detectives, yesterday, arrested two two male, and two female counterfeiters, at an obscure place on Staten Island They had all the appurtenances for the manufacture of money, consisting of a transfer press, plates, dies, lithographic stones, inks, material for bronzing &c, all of which were seized by the officers. The men and women were found in the place and taken into custody but refused to give any information in regard to the business or their names Upon the close of the examination of the place a small trunk was discovered in which was found acceptances on August Belmont's house in Brussels, amounting to some millions of francs, but these documents are supposed to have been forged.

WASHINGTON, July 9
The impeachment committee, by a vote of 7 to 2, Messrs Lawrence and Williams being in the negative, have instructed their chairman to inform the House, at the proper time, that the investigation with which they are charged is not yet closed, that the committee have not had to examine the evidence with a view to seeing fully what has been proved, and that they cannot present their report at the present session of Congress, but will be ready to do so any time after the middle of October It is known that the members of the committee who favor impeachment are very anxious for a session beginning in the latter part of that month, at which they say the matter will be pressed to a conclusion Whether the Senate will vote for beginning at that time is by no means certain Several members say they will agree to a similar provision to that adopted in April, under which this session is held, but they will not come here to bother with impeachment In this connection it may be stated that Chief Justice Chase has lately expressed himself in very decided terms against the whole impeachment movement —[Special to Boston Adv.

RETURNING GOOD FOR EVIL In 1792, George Washington, President of the United States, wrote a private letter to Francis II, Emperor of Austria, earnestly pleading for the release of General Lafayette, who had been confined for several years in a loathsome dungeon in the citadel of Olmutz, and entreating that he might be permitted to come to this country This request of the President was not even replied to, but was treated with contemptuous indifference Recently the present emperor of Austria appealed to our government to interpose its good offices in favor of his brother Maximilian, emperor of Mexico, whose life was in imminent peril which appeal was promptly and courteously responded to

FOR GOVERNOR.

Joshua L. Chamberlain.

Resolved, That our national indebtedness should be funded as speedily as the necessities of the Government will allow, and at the lowest practicable rate of interest, always maintaining inviolate all pledges of the national faith.

Resolved, That the law in relation to taxing U. S. bonds and stock in National Banks should be adjusted by Congress, on constitutional principles of equity, and that whatever municipal taxation is imposed on stock in National Banks should go to the advantage of the cities and towns in which said bank stock is owned.—Republican State Convention.

The Unpardonable Sin.

It would be amusing—if it were not a melancholy—to see the efforts of the old, worn out and discarded leaders of the once triumphant democracy, to resuscitate the party, and bring it once more into a galvanized life. But it is all in vain, as the sagacious and reflecting men of the party know and admit, although they yet cling to the dead form of what was once a vital force.

It is in vain that the leaders, in their frantic efforts, appeal to the records of former days, and invoke history, and recapitulate the story of the days when the party was triumphant and enjoying public confidence and the glory of success. That party committed the unpardonable political sin, which can never be forgotten or forgiven. It opposed the country in war. It not merely stood aloof, but it gave aid and encouragement to rebels and traitors, when they were in the army, attempting to destroy our country and its government. It was false and faithless to the cause, which enlisted all that was true and loyal and earnest and devoted in every patriotic heart. There were, no doubt, individual exceptions, of men who were loyal and patriotic at heart, who yet from old association clung to the name of democracy, and would not give it up. But such men were few and far between. The party and its leaders, those who gave it character and influence, and directed its course, were from the beginning to the end hearty sympathizers with treason and traitors. Its spirit was that of disloyalty. Its hopes and wishes and prayers were for the success of the rebellion. It did all it dared to do to sustain, encourage and give comfort to the rebel government and the rebel armies. It rejoiced when those armies defeated "our boys in blue," and mourned and drooped when tidings came of Union victories. The leaders were sometimes alarmed, and did not dare to speak or to act at times as their feelings prompted. But no one can read the resolutions, speeches and doings of this party, during the four years, without the conviction that the party, in its spirit, purposes and acts, was against the country in war, and that, a war for existence. And this is the unpardonable sin, which no party can survive. It may struggle for awhile and hold on to its veterans, and those who nominally remain in its ranks, because they have not courage or reflection enough to break away. But it has no children—no issue—no successors. The young men of the land are not in its ranks. No converts are made. Its ranks as they are thinned by death or desertion, are never filled by the young and ardent and patriotic men. They see and feel that it is no place for them.

And so these anxious leaders, who seek in their reckless and dissatisfied state, to get once more into office, go about in a sort of eleemosynary condition, begging for something to raise an issue upon—it matters not what it is. Like the rag-pickers of Paris, they are groping about in the gutters, and turning over the dead or decayed garbage of bye-gone issues, in hopes of finding something of value with which to start anew.—The democracy are political Micawbers—eagerly waiting for "something to turn up." They go smelling about rum-shops, and patting on the back the lovers of the ardent—telling them that democracy will give them free rum. They start in full cry—following Smart, in his efforts to induce the people to believe themselves oppressed because the war for existence cost something. They catch at any and every straw—think they can induce the people to forget that they were false and traitorous to the country and its armies in the days of trial and suffering. We say again it is all in vain—whatever else may come—the old democratic party can never be restored to power.

AMERICAN CASHMERES. A few years ago a gentleman of South Carolina brought to this country a few Cashmere goats, with a view of experimenting upon the possibility of crossing and breeding them here. What were the results attained in his particular case we do not know, but the idea was adopted by others, and in one instance, at least, according to a recent Wisconsin journal, with signal success.

The Wisconsin writer announces that he has just received a visit from a gentleman who came to introduce the Cashmere goat into that State, and who brought with him specimens of wool from the fourth cross with the common goat of this country that excelled in beauty and fineness of texture anything he had ever seen. The length of the specimen wool was from ten to twelve inches, and the exhibitor reported that the Cashmere goats were crossed easily and to any extents with the ordinary goat of this country.

As this is the staple from which the famous Cashmere shawls are woven, and sold at such enormous prices, it is to be hoped that the domestication of the animal will soon enable us to supply our markets with a homemade article of equal beauty and far less cost, as well, perhaps, as undersell the Mohammedan merchants in the markets of Europe.

There are grounds to fear that the moment the romance of exclusiveness, which price and rarity now throw round the genuine Cashmere, is dispelled by Yankee enterprise and ingenuity, the shawls will cease to possess that mysterious attraction known as "fashion." It is, therefore, in a more serious sense, as affecting the general quality of American wool, that this promised improvement in the breed of goats is to be regarded as valuable.

The Sacramento Union is informed that on the 9th of May, "soon after the workmen engaged in making the Summit tunnel of the Central Pacific railroad had let off a blast of nitro-glycerine, the foreman of the tunnel, Henry McCarty, went in to see what effect the blast had or to make preparations for another one. He took a hammer and struck on the rock to ascertain whether it was solid or not. There happened to be a quantity of the explosive compound in or on the rock, which was ignited by the blow, exploding and shattering fragments and splinters of rock in every direction, wounding him in several places, one piece of stone penetrating his right breast and entering the lungs."

The capricious nature of thunder-storms, whose path may be diverted by the slightest attraction, has been well understood by the French agriculturists, who, with much ingenuity, have resorted to a bold and singular expedient in self-defence against those storms and the hail which usually accompanies them. This process, which is universal in that part of France called the Maconnais, was originally introduced by the Marquis de Chevlers, a naval officer, retired of his estate at Vesuronard, who having recollected to have seen the explosion of great guns resorted to at sea, in order to disperse stormy clouds, resolved to attempt a similar method to dissipate the hail-storms, whose ravages he had often witnessed. For this purpose he made use of gunpowder, which he caused to be fired from the heights on the approach of a storm. This had the happiest effect, and he continued till his death to preserve his lands from the ravages of hail-storms, while the neighboring villages continued to experience their baneful effects.—He consumed annually between two and three hundred pounds of mining powder.

CURIOUS CALCULATION. A late British publication, after stating the vast and rapid succession of new works, with the utter impossibility of a reader's keeping pace with them, presents the following odd calculation: "If twelve men were employed for twenty-four hours a day, (allowing neither for sleep nor meals,) in reading, at the rate of eighty words per minute, they would barely keep up with the volumes published in London alone. In this estimate, Tracts and Sermons are not included. But if Magazines, Reviews and Newspapers were added to the task, it would require upwards of forty men."

AUGUSTA, ME., July 10.

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

John Megguire, one of the State Prison convicts who escaped last Sunday morning at the "jail delivery", was arrested last night in Belgrade by Capt. Horace Pike and Mr. Ballard of the Cushnoc House. He had hired with a farmer for the haying season. He was committed for larceny Sept. 5th, 1866, for four years. His age is seventeen. BG.

—The military posts established along the routes which are to become the great national thoroughfares, cost the government in 1864, $25,000,000, and in 1865, $57,000,000, and from present indications $150,000,000 will not cover the expense for the past twelve months.

SACARAPPA. Since the revival in Saccarappa, which is now going on, about sixty have joined the Methodist Society—thirty-three have been baptized and twenty-eight have connected themselves with the Methodist church—seven by letter, and twenty-one by probation.

THE NEW ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC. The Alta Californian of the 24th ult. contains the following account of the discovery of a new island in the North Pacific, already briefly reported by telegraph:

The story goes that the captain of the barque Washington, being on a voyage from the Sandwich Islands, bound to the Northern coast, when in about forty degrees north latitude, found, while running in a fog, that the water had changed color, but there not being any land laid down on his chart, it did not strike him at first that he was on soundings. After a time he ordered out the lead, and found deep water, but as he sailed along and sounded he found the water shoaling until he got into ten fathoms, when he commenced to look for land, and after awhile discovered through the fog an island, along which he coasted for some forty miles. The land was dotted with birds, and the water alive with seals and sea elephants.

The island was not laid down on his chart, and on inquiry after his arrival here, he could not find that any one else knew of land thereabouts. The latitude of the reported discovered land is forty degrees and thirty minutes north, and the longitude one hundred and fifty-one degrees west, or about 1500 miles in a due westerly line from Cape Mendocino. The Captain did not land and take possession of the island, but report says that the federal authorities have telegraphed the facts to Washington, and asked for instructions as to sending a national vessel in search of the reported discovery.

The same paper of the 29th ult. gives additional particulars, as follows:

From a gentleman who has been trading on the Pacific Ocean since 1810, we learn that years ago this land was known by him to exist. He had seen land birds in about the latitude and longitude named for the island; and an old sea dog who sailed on the Pacific at the same time, reported that he had sailed a whole day along the coast of an island, and had seen it a second time, but after that he gave it a wide berth, as he was not inclined to find new land by piling his craft upon the rocks.

Its existence has been vouched for by several parties, and lying as it does in the track of the China steamers on the homeward voyage, it will, if found, be a valuable coaling station for those vessels. The fisheries in its bounds will probably be found valuable, to say nothing of its worth to our people in view of its being a convenient calling-place on voyages from distant ports on the Pacific to our Russian territory.

THE DIAMOND MINES. Col. Haly, of the Madras army, writes to an English journal:

Observing it stated that the diamond mines of Golconda are giving out, and those of India rapidly failing, allow me to correct what I have reason to consider is a great error. Certainly, such is not the belief of the natives of that country, who, on the contrary, are under the impression that they have not yet been what may be called opened, and the diamonds hitherto found have only been the surface ones, the better sort lying deep in the bowels of the earth. This opinion is certainly born out of the fact that the deeper they go in search of them, the more they are found in abundance and value.

I have visited some of these so-called diamond mines, and certainly anything giving less the idea of mines could not well be conceived, as they merely consist of holes, very few of which are over twenty feet deep—indeed, generally less than half that depth; and these have been scooped out by hand with a single crowbar, and are still so worked, or rather fresh ones made, for the hard, gravelly nature of these diggings becomes still more difficult to work as they recede from the surface, till at last they become almost impenetrable. With the simple appliances used by the native, and again from the arid nature of the country in which these so-called mines are situated—there is a great scarcity of water (one of the auxiliaries, and indeed principal requisites for successfully working diamond mines, as well for moistening and softening the earth, and thereby rendering it easier to dig, as for the purpose of washing,)—every shovelful of the excavation has to be thoroughly examined by being washed, searched, screened, &c., before the precious stones can be brought to light. Yet with all these disadvantages, a very fair living is made by those permitted to work the "mines," though they have to pay heavily for a license, as well as a large royalty on every diamond found. All diamonds over a certain value are the property of Nizam of Hyderabad, to whom the Golconda mines belong. It is not, however, diamonds only that are found there, but precious stones of less value as well, such as Indian garnets, opals, catseyes, moonstones, &c., and these now principally repay the workers of the so-called "diamond mines of Golconda," which, however, there is every reason to suppose would pay if worked on a larger scale ... for here, as ... the surface only has as yet been scratched.

Religious Intelligence.

A GERM OF PROTESTANTISM IN SPAIN. Rev. Dr. Thompson, of New York, having returned from a recent visit to Spain, says that, though the Papacy has as strong a hold upon the mass of the Spanish mind as ever, and stronger than it ever had in any other country, or in Rome itself, there is yet a nucleus of Protestantism there. A true and living church exists there, composed of about 2,000 devoted Christians, known to each other as Bible Christians, who meet by stealth at night in byways and secret places for prayer, preaching, and the study of the scriptures. Dr. Thompson met with them several times. The intolerant laws of Spain forbid any religious worship but that of the Roman Catholic church, and the printing of the Bible in the language of the country under penalty of the galleys. These Bible Christians, however, print the Bible at midnight, in a deep cellar, and privately circulate the precious book. There is a growing distrust and dislike of the priests, and a disposition to throw off their power.

CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE IN THE EXPOSITION. At the very entrance of the Champ de Mars stands a building appropriated to religious purposes, containing, besides a hall for meetings, a collection of the trophies of the various Protestant Missionary Societies of France, Germany, England and the United States, and of the publications of the Bible and Tract Societies of these countries. On the opening day of the Exhibition, over 7,000 copies of the Bible, in fourteen different languages, were given away at the Bible stand, and a large distribution has been constantly made since that time. A very marked feature in the British and American departments is the observance of the Lord's day by the stopping of their machinery, giving a day of rest to the men there employed, thus giving a silent but significant testimonial to the sacredness of the Sabbath.

—The believers in the approaching millenium are now at Warehouse Point Conn., anxiously waiting to go up. The understanding is that unless the present attempt is successful, there will not be another opportunity for two thousand years.

—Rev. Mr. Boyd, the well known "country parson," has charge of the largest church in the north of Scotland. He says "Our parish church is 750 years old, and in our church-yard people have been buried for 700 years."

—The proprietors of the Petersburg, Va., papers have decided to print their Monday's issue on Saturday evening, in order to allow their employees to observe the Sabbath.

—The new missionary ship Morning Star, after reaching the Sandwich Islands prosperously, where she received an enthusiastic welcome, has gone thence on her first trip to the Marquesas Islands.

—The Congress of Peru, after an exciting debate, has decided that the Roman Catholic religion shall be the religion of the State, to the exclusion of every other.

—The Methodists have decided upon founding a college in connection with their mission in India. It is to be located in the city of Lucknow.

—In Peru, New Hampshire, a little mountain town of less than six hundred inhabitants, as many as seventy hopeful conversions have taken place within the last four months.

—Rev. Dr. Hepburn, Presbyterian missionary to Japan, has nearly completed his dictionary of the Japanese language, and the publication is about to commence.

—A church is to be erected in London to commemorate the abolition of slavery, and to be at the same time a memorial of President Lincoln.

—There is a gentleman living in Taunton who has heard five thousand six hundred and seven sermons and has kept a record of every text thereof.

A Certain Cure for Diseased Liver and the many Dangerous Maladies which are caused by a morbid condition of that organ.

To give the public a clear understanding of the mode in which SCHENCK'S Mandrake Pills produce those wonderful effects which are attested by thousands of reliable witnesses, we present a brief and its functions, which will make the operation of this popular medicine perceptible to every man's understanding.

The liver is supplied with blood vessels, nerves and absorbents. One of the obvious uses is to secrete and prepare the bile. It likewise filters the blood and separates that fluid from all impurities. How indispensably necessary to health is the proper performance of this function! If the liver is diseased, it cannot purify the blood, and if that is sent back through the lungs, brain and other parts in a morbid condition, it must cause jaundice, biliousness, obstruction of the kidneys, gravel, and many other complaints more or less painful and dangerous, but the least of them quite enough to make a man sick and uncomfortable, and unfit for the performance of any of the duties of life. This unhealthy state of the system very often ends in pulmonary consumption.

The circulation of the blood is conducted in this manner:—The heart sends the vital current down through the arteries; it passes through the flesh, taking up all impurities in its progress; then the stream of blood flows backward through the veins, and passes to the liver to be purified. It is impossible to cure consumption, scrofula, or scarcely any other kind of ulceration while that important organ, the liver, is diseased. It is for that reason that "regular physicians" rarely cure consumption.—They usually begin their treatment with the use of some cough medicine, the basis of which is morphia or opium in some shape, which locks up the liver instead of relaxing the secretions, giving a tone to the stomach, and producing a healthy flow of bile. Dr. Schenck's will strengthen the system, purify the blood, and ripen and heal ulcers in the lungs.

A ... is required, to give a brief account of the ... Dr. Schenck's ... Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills—all of which ... [illegible]

Phlebotomy.

When Dr. Sangrado found his patients weak he gave them water gruel. When they got weaker he bled them and dosed them with calomel and jalap. Gil Blas tells us that they almost invariably died. A good many people are killed that way yet. The world in general, however, has found out that, in cases of debility and premature decay, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the true life-sustaining cordial. This tonic is a powerful and perfectly harmless restorative. But it does more than invigorate. It regulates and purifies. While it builds up the strength and infuses vitality into the blood, it brings all the secretions into harmony with the laws of health. The feebler sex find it invaluable in the various physical difficulties to which their organization renders them subject. In all hysterical and hypochondrical cases its effect is magical. The infirmities of age are alleviated by its use; and where the circulation is torpid, and there is a tendency to paralysis, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are recommended as a means of re-invigorating the system and prolonging life.

At this season of the year, particularly when midsummer's scorching heat does so much towards reducing the vital energies of the body, this inestimable tonic and stomachic produces a wonderful effect. By it the strength is increased, the appetite preserved, and firmness and elasticity given to the system. july 8 snd&w1w

Dr. Schenck, the Lung Doctor.

☞ The Proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, the inventor of SCHENCK'S RESPIROMETER, the only instrument that can to a certainty detect the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs.

This is of great importance to Dr. SCHENCK, to know the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial, Pleuritic, or Dyspeptic Consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased.

It requires constant and long practice to become familiar with every sound or rattling of a diseased bronchial tube. Patients come to Dr. SCHENCK to get examined that have been examined by their family physician, who told them that their lungs were almost gone; when by a close examination with the Respirometer, it is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube; and by getting a healthy action of the liver and tone of the stomach, the sufferer is soon restored to health. Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough, is certain death to the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood—hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, stopping the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Dr. Schenck will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond street, New York, and 35 Hanover street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer, the charge is $5. His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers, also, a full supply at all times at his rooms. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen; Mandrake Pills 25 cents per box. GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover street, Agents for Boston. Reduction of Postage between the United States and England.

Departure of Madame Juarez for Vera Cruz.

The Surratt Trial.

A SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

A treaty has just been concluded between the Postoffice Departments of Great Britain and the United States, whereby on and after the 1st of January, 1868, the postage on letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight to and from the United States shall be 12 cents instead of 24 cents as now charged.

The details of the treaty are very elaborate and embrace many important changes in existing relations. It was executed in London on the 18th inst. by Mr. Kasson, special commissioner on behalf of the United States, and the Duke of Montrose, Postmaster-General of Great Britain, and was finally approved by the President on the 8th inst.

The judiciary committee has prepared a minority report in favor of impeachment of the President.

The probability now is that Congress will not adjourn until the end of next week.

The Senate will to-morrow endeavor to reach a vote on the reconstruction bill reported by Mr. Trumbull, irrespective of that passed yesterday by the House. Several days may elapse before the two branches come to an agreement, and besides there will be detention by the veto.

NEW YORK, July 10.

The Commercial's special Washington despatch says:

The Government has ordered the Susquehanna to proceed immediately to a Mexican port and demand the surrender of Santa Anna, dead or alive, and satisfaction for his seizure.

NEW ORLEANS, July 10.

Madame Juarez and party, numbering fifteen persons, arrived last night, and left this morning for Vera Cruz, on board the revenue cutter Wilderness, Capt. Freeman. They will have slender accommodations, as the vessel is not built for passengers.

We have files of the Brownsville Ranchero to the 4th inst., publishing the proceedings of the court martial that tried Maximilian and his Generals. The court was composed of a Lieutenant Colonel as President, six Captains, and a Judge Advocate, Lieut. Col. Manuel Aspiroso.

The prisoners were tried separately, each plea containing a denial of the jurisdiction of the court and protesting against the refusal of the right to appeal.

Maximilian was confined to his bed when his case was called, his being the last. He was ably defended by Senor Eulubio Ortega, who refuted the charges of Maximilian's usurpation and cruelty. He said the law of Oct. 3d was made when Maximilian was cheated into the belief that Juarez had abandoned the territory.

A large number of Maximilian's officers and soldiers are in this city, all wearing mourning badges.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

The Surratt trial was resumed to-day.

Francis A. Ward testified to the bad character of Tibbetts.

Martin Hazo testified that he had charge of the Metropolitan Hall in April, 1865; knew of no performance at the hall on the afternoon of Friday, April 14th; had rehearsals there three times a week from eleven to twelve a. m.; never was any dancing going on Friday afternoon; the tables in the were all spruce; there were never any rounc ones in tue room; witness knew Booth and never saw the prisoner until now.

Geo. Nuchman and Augustus Vass testified in a similar manner.

Thomas Gayer, William Homer, Joseph W. Pumphrey and others testified to the bad character and unreliability of William E. Cleaver.

Mr. Bradley now proposed in evidence the record of a trial at which Cleaver was convicted of rape and manslaughter, but Judge Fisher decided that as Cleaver was granted a new trial, the case now stands as though he had never been tried at law, the record could not be admitted.

The court then took a recess until to-morrow morning.

Fortieth Congress.

SPECIAL SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

SENATE.

Mr. Sumner endeavored to call up his motion to rescind the resolution passed on Friday and proceeded to argue the question.

After some debate it which Mr. Fessenden participated, the Senate refused to take up the resolutions.

The reconstruction bill was taken up and Mr. Howard took the floor and proceeded to address the Senate in favor of the bill.

Mr. Howard denounced the President's policy and reviewed the opinion of the Attorney General. The fundamental error of the Attorney General was in ignoring the fact that these rebel States had been subjugated and had lost their rights as States.

The question was then taken on Mr. Wilson's amendment to the second section authorizing the commanding Generals to appoint civilians to offices vacated under this section.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Drake moved to amend to 6th section so as to make it read, "that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States or not while holding any such office or afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion, etc."

After debate Mr. Trumbull opposing the amendment on suggestion of Mr. Johnson it was modified so as to read, "and whether he was holding such office at the time of the rebellion or before." Agreed to.

Mr. Howard moved as amendment to the 6th section a proviso, that the mere act of having voted for the ordinance of secession shall not of itself be deemed under this act as engaging in the rebellion or insurrection, nor shall any person be deemed disqualified merely by reason of his having held an office as justice of the peace, notary public, trustee officer or agent of any institution of learning or commissioner of banks or canals, etc.

Mr. Howard said that Gen. Schofield had made a ruling which rendered the above amendment necessary as regards those who voted for this ordinance of secession.

A debate ensued, several Senators opposing any opening of the doors to admit rebels and Mr. Sumner characterized it as a Noah's Ark in which all the rebels were to be saved.

Without taking any action on the amendment at 3.40 the Clerk of the House announced the action of the House on the death of Charles Dennison.

Messrs. Buckalow and Cameron delivered eulogies on the deceased, and at 4 p. m., as a mark of respect, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. Dawes, the time for taking testimony or the Kentucky cases was excused from further service on the committee on elections.

Mr. Shanks, of Indiana asked leave to offer a preamble and set of resolutions reciting that there has not been any thorough and systematic investigation of the treatment of the Union prisoners of war by the confederate government and people; and it is important that such investigation shall be had and a record thereof be made; and resolving that a select committee of five be appointed to make such investigation, record the the facts and report the same to the House and any time with such recommendation as may seem proper with power to send for persons and papers; to appoint a clerk and stenographer and to report an act of grace and amnesty for witnesses who may be implicated.

Mr. Woodbridge objected on the introduction of the resolution.

Mr. Shanks moved to suspend the rules.

After debate the rules were suspended by a vote of 79 to 38, and the resolutions were introduced promising grace and amnesty, which was copied from that offered the other day by Mr. Butler.

Mr. Shanks withdrew that resolution.

Mr. Robinson of New York offered a resolution directing the committee on foreign affairs to report immediately whether any American citizen has been arrested, tried convicted or sentenced in Great Britain or Ireland for words or acts done in the United States.

After a debate the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Wilson of Iowa from the committee on judiciary said:

I am directed by the committee to state that it is not prepared to submit a report, but that it will be prepared to submit a report on that subject at any session that may be held on or after the 16th of October next. I have been also requested to state the position occupied by the committee. On this question five members of the committee are of opinion that such high crimes and misdemeanors have not been proved against the President as would call for his impeachment. Four members of the committee occupy any opposite position, believing that sufficient matter has been developed in the case to call for the impeachment of the President. That is all I am required to and I believe the statement covers all the authority given me by the committee.

Mr Boyer announced the death of his colleague, Mr. Dennison, and after eulogistic remarks the House adjourned.

A SMART GIRL. The New York correspondent of a St. Paul paper is responsible for the following story:

There is a young lady in this city by the name of Miss Mary A. Mills, who has set a very worthy example to all of her sex.—She was born in Hartford, but lost her parents while quite young. By the kindness of friends she was sent to Ellingham Seminary, at Verder, Conn., where she graduated over a year ago. She is a good Latin scholar, well versed in modern literature, and keeps books in single and double entry. She is twenty-one years of age, and when she came out of school she was forced to support herself, but had a great invention or to New England factories. She came to New York a stranger, with nothing to help her except a few letters of introduction, expecting to take a clerkship in a store; but, upon investigation, she made up her mind that she was not calculated for the occupation, and came to the bold determination to establish a real estate and life insurance agency, and I am happy to say, is meeting with great success which is so justly due to her. In spite of her sex and years of business, which females and males of older growth do not possess, she has established a large business, and is now in a position to command a salary of $3,000 per year. Her business is entirely confined to the city of Brooklyn, and she has a large number of agents under her employ. Her success is due entirely to her own exertions, and she is a living example of what a young lady can do who has the energy and perseverance to undertake and carry out a business enterprise.

LOCAL AND MARINE ITEMS.

Bangor Temperance Mission.

BANGOR, July 9th, 1867.

Adjourned meeting at City Hall this evening, the President in the Chair.

An opportunity was offered for signatures to the Pledge. Several names were placed on the Roll of Honor.

Elijah Low, Esq., was invited to address the audience, and responded. Said he was called upon to speak and to whom? He saw about him those whom he met in all the temperance organizations—they did not need talking to—they were workers. The Society was formed to enlist the interest and influence of those who were not identified with the other temperance organizations. It is necessary that the combined influence of all the friends of the cause should be brought to bear upon the public mind, to sustain the proud position we occupy as a State and a community. He wished the people one and all would come into the meetings. If there were enemies, or even rumsellers, let them come and defend their position.

H. Mills, Esq., responded to a call. He was sorry and was glad; sorry that there was not more here, glad that so many were here notwithstanding so many outside attractions allured to other places. It evinced on their part a deep interest in the cause. He made an eloquent appeal to the friends to stand by the cause. The enemy was vigilant, watching with eagle eyes, ready to take advantage of any mistakes or lukewarmness, was backed by Wrath, Avarice, Custom and Appetite. The eyes of the whole world is upon the Prigo State. Shall we falter? No!—a thousand times No! Then show your faces at the next meeting and bring your friends with you.

Several short addresses were made. Clergymen requested to give notice of meeting. Adjourned one week.

—An Ecclesiastical Council was held on Tuesday, the 1st inst., at the First Congregational Church of this city, at which it was unanimously voted that the pastoral relation between Rev. Mr. Rowland and his people be dissolved.

The following is a partial copy of the "Result of the Council":

"The Council would recommend this step simply and solely on the ground of the failing health of the pastor. It is with especial pleasure that they recognize the harmony and deep affection that exists and always has existed between Rev. Mr. Rowland and his people; and they desire to express their exceeding regret that the disease under which our Brother suffers renders it absolutely necessary for him to retire from a field of labor in which he is so very useful and where he has been so constantly gaining upon the respect and affection, not only of his own people, but of the whole community. It is their hope and prayer that restored health may enable him before long to resume the labors of a profession for which he has proved himself so admirably fitted, both by intellectual and spiritual qualifications.—The Council also expressed their affectionate interest in the Church, and their sympathy with them under the severe trial of parting from one whom they so much love and honor, and their hope that the Head of the Church will soon send them another, who, like unto the one taken, may be to them both a teacher and an example unto them of everything that is good and Christ-like.

LIFE SIZE. We notice by the Portland papers that our old friend, M. F. King, photograph artist, Middle street, has been taking some very fine, life-size heads of distinguished citizens of Portland. Mark is a thorough artist, and everything he undertakes is done in life-size. We are happy to know that he has recovered from the effects of the late fire, and has again resumed his old business.

FOURTH MILITARY DISTRICT. In a Roster of troops now serving in the Fourth Military District of the United States, Gen Ord commanding, we notice the names of Brevet Lt. Col. L. H. Pierce, Captain and Assistant Quartermaster, formerly of this city, and Brevet Brig. Gen. C. H. Smith, Colonel 28th Infantry, now commanding the sub-District of Arkansas. Col. Smith was for merly of the First Maine Cavalry, and resided in Eastport. The Fourth District embraces the States of Mississippi and Arkansas.

CHAPTER MEETING. We understand that D. G. H. P. Elphalet W. French, Esq., of Eastport, will make his annual visit to Mt. Moriah Royal Arch Chapter of Masons this evening.

FOREIGN LETTER. Our foreign correspondent "B." has favored us with another interesting letter, dated Neufchatel, Switzerland, June 19th. We shall present it to our readers to-morrow.

S. OF T. The officers of Holden Division No. 11 were installed on Saturday evening last, by P. W. P. John S. Kimball, assisted by P. W. P. James M. Winchester, as follows:

W. F. Green, W. P.
Byron Comings, W. A.
F. M. Jones, R. S.
G. A. McGoon, A. R. S.
M. S. Fogg, F. S.
S. Winchester, T.
Thomas Hart, Chap.
Marcus Phillips, C.
W. F. Smith, A. C.
George Hart, I. S.
J. L. Copeland, O. S.

The Division numbers 98 members, and is doing a good work. No rumsellers in town and do not need any State Constable.

SPLENDID STRAWBERRIES. We are indebted to Mr. Albert Noyes for a basket of the largest and most luscious strawberries which ever came under our observation.—They are of the variety known as the Russell, and we don't believe the specimens we have seen can be beaten in New England.

—We are requested to say that the different varieties of liquors condemned are subject to the test of analyzation before they are sold at the City Store.

THE TROT AT ORONO. Yesterday, the Fourth of July trot at Orono was fairly finished without a drop of rain. The unfinished purse was won by Mr. Haskell's Bartlett colt. The second purse was won by O. M. Shaw's Speedaway, and the sweepstakes was easily taken by Dashaway, owned by O. M. Shaw of this city. Best time 2.48.

—Barge Fairy of the Wave will leave steamboat wharf to-morrow morning at 7½ o'clock, for Castine, toppling at Bucksport.

—We learn that the driver of the horse Speculator, who was injured at the trot at the July 4th, has since died.

—The Portland Star thinks the Democratic party is dead, and has buried it.

SALE OF STEAMER. The Bath Times says that the steamer Eastern City was sold at auction on Tuesday for the sum of $78,000. Edward Sewall, Esq., was the purchaser. One half of steamer Daniel Webster was knocked off to the same party for $20,000. The Eastern City was the steamer that brought the excursion party to Bangor on the Fourth of July.

—Our night compositors desire to express their thanks to the boating party who favored them with a pleasant serenade last evening.

—A fire broke out in Bucksport village at about 1 o'clock, Saturday morning, in a two story frame building, an the old steamboat wharf, owned by Frederick Spofford, and was entirely consumed. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as no fire had been in the building for months. No insurance.

—A State Constable seized a quart of gin in Limington, on the 30th of June, and the owner was compelled to pay a fine. Luckily for the fellow the constable seized before the new bill came in force.

FATAL ACCIDENT. Benj. F. Moore, formerly Postmaster at Bingham, was killed by a kick from a frightened horse, on the 30th of June. Mr. M. was about 30 years of age.

—The Farmer says, "We saw at the Express Office in this city, on Monday of this week, a handsome pair of full blood Chester pigs, from different families, destined for the farm of the State Industrial School at Orono. We learn they are a present to the institution from Mr. Warren Percival, the well known fancy stock breeder of Vassalboro'; and we trust it is but the beginning of gratuitous contributions of valuable stock of all kinds, to be presented to the farm by its friends throughout the State."

—The Saco Democrat says that on Sunday last, a young son of John Taney had his skull fractured by being kicked by a horse. The horse was feeding on the sidewalk, and the little fellow ran up behind him, when he was kicked and severely if not fatally injured.

—The Farmer says that William Cooper, Esq., a well known and highly respected citizen of Pittston, and a gentleman heretofore largely engaged in shipping and shipbuilding, died on Friday last, at the age of eighty-eight years. The flags on the shipping in port at Gardiner were at half-mast on Sunday in honor of his memory.

HYDROGRAPHIC SURVEY. In an article upon the contemplated hydrographic survey of Maine, the New York Post kindly urges us onward in the new course which has been commenced upon. We hope that a new era is dawning in the State and that an impetus may be given to manufacturing, which will effectually prevent young men from seeking more liberal and less favored localities. The Post says:

The spirit of enterprise is not confined to the West. The State of Maine is as full of new commercial and industrial projects as any of the thriving young commonwealths beyond the Mississippi. Portland is seeking, and seems likely to get, more direct railway communications with the lakes. The interior railroad lines are extending in all directions. The cities and towns of the state are assuming heavy burdens of indebtedness in aid of these enterprises. In addition to all those evidences of activity, the action of the last legislature in furtherance of the material interests of the state has been well directed.

Among the most important measures was the passage of a resolution providing for a hydrographic survey of the rivers of Maine, and for the appointment of three commissioners who should have charge thereof, and make a report to the Governor and Council, of the fall and volume of water, the supply and constancy of the water, their lake reservoirs and their accessibility, and such other facts as will tend to show their advantages for the employment of manufacturing industry.

CHARCOAL AS A WATER PURIFIER. The tradition that charcoal is a good purifier for bad water is contradicted by some recent scientific experiments in England. At a late meeting of the Institution of Civil Engineers, Mr. E. Bryne announced the result of his experiments on this subject. He said that with a view to ascertain whether water, unaccustomed by either decomposing animal or sewerage matter, would contain any nitrogenous bodies, some bog water was procured from a locality that precluded the possibility of its containing any animal or sewerage matter, the experiments on which served to prove that, in bog water at least, vegetable nitrogenous matter was present. The details of four sets of experiments were given, the first on animal charcoal, of which nearly five pounds, new and freshly burned and of the degree of fineness used in sugar refineries, were packed in an ordinary stoneware filter. The water employed, of which a complete analysis was given, contained in the gallon—organic matter, 10.80 grains; inorganic matter, 88.50 grains. The hardness of the water before boiling was found to be 50.60 degrees, and after boiling, 38 degrees, and the oxygen required to oxydize the organic matter contained in one gallon amounted to 0.0116 grains. Several gallons of the water were allowed to percolate slowly through the charcoal, and, upon examination afterwards it was found that of the inorganic matter which had originally existed, 52.60 grains were removed from the first gallon, but from each succeeding gallon less and less, so that from the twelfth gallon of water that passed through the charcoal, only 8 80 grains of inorganic matter were removed.

Of the organic matter 4.80 grains were removed from the first gallon; but, with a gradual decrease, the charcoal ceased to remove any organic matter after the sixth gallon. In fact, immediately afterwards it commenced to give back a portion of the organic matter removed in the first instance, the quantity returned to the twelfth gallon amounting to 1.56 grains. Thus, of the 13|54 grains of organic matter removed by the charcoal from the first six gallons of water, as much as 4.98 grains were given back to the next six gallons; from which the author concluded that, had this set of experiments been carried a little further, all the organic matter removed at first by the charcoal would have been given back again.

The second and third series of experiments were with wood and peat charcoal, which were still less satisfactory than those on animal charcoal. The fourth set of experiments was on animal charcoal, with water previously treated with permanganate of potash slightly in excess. After remarking that the water in its passage through the charcoal was found to contain organic matter apparently in the same quantity as before treating it with the permanganate, attention was drawn to a comparison between the first and fourth sets of experiments, to show how closely they agreed to contradict the general statements made as to the removing powers of charcoal, and to demonstrate how very little indeed could be done by this filtering material, even on a small scale, towards the purification of water.

NEW OFFICE.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has opened an office on second floor of No. 35 Hanover STREET, Boston, where he will be professionally every WEDNESDAY, from 9 to 3. Every person complaining with Consumption or any disease tending to it, is invited to call on him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the charge is five dollars.

Dr. Schenck can explain to patients very correctly the stage of their disease, and how to use his medicines, namely, his Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, with but the use of the Respirometer; but he can tell exactly how far the lungs are gone, and what part also; whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial or Dyspeptic Consumption, or whether it is in reality an ulcerated throat and catarrh, or from Liver Complaint.

His medicines have full directions, so any one can take them without seeing him, but if they live near by, and are well enough, it is best to see him. All three of his medicines are required in nearly every case of lung disease, for it is impossible to cure Consumption unless the stomach and liver are kept in perfect order. To get lungs in a healing condition the stomach must be cleansed, and an appetite for good rich food created, so as to make good blood, before the lungs will begin to heal; then the chills and night sweats will stop, and the expectoration become free and easy.

He keeps a full supply of medicines at his rooms, which can be had at all times.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1,50 per bottle or $7,50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

Dr. Schenck on Dyspepsia.

SYMPTOMS, CAUSES AND REMEDY.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia—A sense of fullness, tightness, and weight in the stomach, together with flatulency, acidity, sour, offensive belchings of wind, water-brash and vomiting, and a great deal of wind a person calls an all-gone feeling at the pit of the stomach: frequently there is also a palpitation of the heart, which physicians mistake for heart disease, and when the stomach is in this condition it is coated with a mucus or slime. The rough fibrous peristaltic of the stomach, similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric juice, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric juice from flowing, and digestion ceases. Schenck's seaweed tonic thins the mucus or slime, and restores the stomach to its natural condition.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills are also required to carry off this morbid matter. Two-thirds of the cases of Consumption are caused from this diseased state of the stomach; the liver becoming torpid, it ceases to throw out bile, and in a short time the whole system is deranged. The mucous membrance of the bronchial tubes sympathizes with the other organs, and before the patient is aware of it, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmonary Consumption.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup cannot act freely thro the blood when the system is in this locked-up condition, without the aid of the Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. The Liver has all of the noxious blood to strain, and when it gets in a morbid condition, blood and bile run through the system mixed, and the whole body becomes so low, and the blood so thick it can hardly run through the veins. In a majority of cases hemorrhages occur from the thick condition of the blood. The Mandrake Pills act on the Liver similar to calomel, or they do what that does—it unlocks the gall bladders, starts the bile, and the blood begins to circulate naturally through the veins, and the hemorrhages cease, and when persons are attacked with hemorrhage, they would first take a good purgative, something that would act on the liver, they would soon be relieved from bleeding from the lungs, and it is the only way, for astringents are only temporary, and irritate the bronchial tubes, and lay the groundwork for consumption.

DR. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers. Also a full supply at all times at his rooms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents per box.

Notice of Foreclosure.

WHEREAS, Noah A. Haskell, of Exeter, in the County of Penobscot, on the 30th day of October, A. D. 1865, by his mortgage deed of that date, and recorded in Penobscot Registry of Deeds, Book 307, Page 317, conveyed to John Wheeler, of Dexter, in said County of Penobscot, Mary A. and Arthur M. Lawry, a parcel of land situate in said Bangor, and bounded as follows, to wit:

Beginning at a stake standing on the Easterly side of the Six Mile Falls road, (Broadway), exactly in front of centre of the double-tenement house which was built by Alvah Jellison, on said lot; thence Easterly through the centre of said house to a stake standing in the Westerly line of James McFadden's land about eleven rods; thence Southerly on said McFadden's line to a stake standing in the Northerly line of land of Henry E. Murphy, fifteen rods and fifteen links; thence Westerly on said road to the place of beginning, thirteen rods and eleven links. And whereas the said Jellison in his deed of conveyance of said premises, assigned the said mortgage to me, by an instrument dated May 17, 1865, and recorded in said Registry, Book 307, Page 328. Now the conditions of said mortgage having been broken, I claim the right to foreclose the same, and give this notice for that purpose.

"WAITING FOR THE MORNING"

I am waiting for the morning,'
The languid sufferer said
As worn with pain and weariness,
She lay upon her bed
'I am looking at the eastern skies
To watch the early dawn;
Oh give me patience blessed Lord,
While waiting for the morn.

'I am waiting for the morning
To night I cannot sleep
I'm listening for the first bird note
To break the silence deep
I am watching for the twitter
On leafy bough and spray
And praying still for patience
While waiting for the day

'I am waiting for the morning
I long to see the sun
Come forth in golden glory
His daily course to run—
To watch him from the hill tops
Dispelling shades of night
And beaming on my patient eyes
While waiting for the light

And thus "waiting for the morning"
The weary sufferer lay
And saw the golden glories
Of a never ending day
While gazing at the eastern skies,
Before the early dawn
Her Savior sent and called her home,
While waiting for the morn.

My Midnight Trip on the 'Lady Franklin'

'Going up to night, Frank?'

How quickly a man discovers the friendly outlines of a familiar face I had fancied myself unrecognized, as I leaned against the arched brick doorway nearly shrouded in shadow, watching the hurried, anxious faces that came and went under the flickering gaslights yet here was Carew's hand on my shoulder, and Carew's genial countenance looking into mine We had been close friends and allies two years ago, when he had been conductor and I was engineer on the same train Tempted by a more liberal offer, I had left my post on the Lady Franklin' and undertaken the supervision of a large machinery shop yet I still retained a pleasant recollection of my railroad days and to-night, as I stood on the old familiar ground, and with the well known sights and sounds around me, and the Lady' gliding out of her place of shelter with burnished sides and flaming headlight, I almost wished myself back again to my old post

'Yes I thought I should How's the old Lady? Holds her own pretty well?

'Better than the new ones a deal!' said the conductor enthusiastically viewing the fiery throated monster as she puffed and groaned, ran backward a few steps, and then darted forward, in a manner entirely enigmatical to any but our initiated selves

She looks as trim as a city belle

'Yes, MacLeod's wife is going through to night

I knew he was looking closely at me scrutinizing my countenance but I managed with an effort to say quite carelessly, 'Is she?'

Carew had known all about the one disastrous love affair of my youth he knew perfectly well, that pretty Isabel Martin had suddenly turned round and married John MacLeod after encouraging my suit for nearly a year and he knew also how sensitive I still was on the subject I had not blamed Isabel so much as some might have been disposed to she was very young, and entirely under the influence of her father, with whom MacLeod was a great favorite But none the less, I had received a great and enduring shock

Poor little Isabel,' said Carew, as he reached up to turn down a long jet of gas that threatened to crack its glass globe— I rather think she has got pretty well sick of MacLeod by this time

'Why? Does he ill treat her?'

Well, I don't suppose he either locks her up on bread and water, or beats her But I do suppose that in every other particular in which man can neglect or ill treat a woman, she is neglected and ill treated'

'The old brute I muttered between my teeth

'Well—I shall see you again,' said Carew, vanishing into the crowd with a sinuous ease and swiftness peculiar, I believe to the race of conductors

It was a tempestuous night in March, the wind howling like an infuriated demon, and the rain beating a stormy fugue on the depot roof as I advanced to help a woman in who carried a heavy basket

'Excuse me, Madame but that is too heavy for you to lift

She looked up to thank me but the words died on her lips as her eyes met mine It was Isabella, the lost love whom I still cherished in my heart of hearts, and the wife of the engineer on the Night Express I was the first to recover my composure, for this be it remembered, was the first time we had met since her marriage, more than three years before

Here is a vacant seat, Isabel, do you wish to sit so near the stove?'

'It makes no difference,' said Isabel, hurriedly, 'I am much obliged to you, Mr Atwater

'How does it happen that you are going through such a stormy night? I asked unmindful of her evident anxiety to be left alone

'I do not know myself, except that John wishes it

Still I lingered Is there anything more I can do for you Isabel?'

There was no answer I stooped my head a little lower

'Isabel you are crying What has grieved you? Tell me what the trouble is?'

Nothing—nothing she sobbed behind her veil 'Only—I had not seen you in so long a time, and it was like the old times once more, and I am very foolish Please leave me now, won't you?

I obeyed her, puzzled and indignant Carew was right. A happy wife does not burst out crying when she meets the friends of her girlhood, a happy wife's look is far different from that pale frightened face I felt strongly inclined to go straight out to John MacLeod's post on the 'Lady Franklin' and administer a summary thrashing then and there"

But I checked my rising color, and contented myself instead with a leisurely saunter through the train now under full motion It was very pleasant to find myself once again on the old familiar ground

But all at once our train slackened its motion moved more slowly still, and came to a dead stand still I knew we were an express that stopped but twice before we reached our final destination, and this lonely pine-barren was certainly neither of our stopping places

'What is it Carew? I asked, swinging myself on to the ground where the conductor stood with his lantern in hand looking under a car

'Only a journal box heated, Confound that Warren' what made him report 'all sound with such a worn box as that? These patent boxes are continually getting hot in the shortest runs, and ain't fit for expresses at all.'

'We can cool it in fifteen minutes, sir,' said one of the brakemen, who had his tow and water all ready for packing it anew

'Fifteen minutes' and we just running on time with the Lightning to catch us at B——

'It's too bad to get in behind the Lightning train,' I said

'Worse for me than MacLeod, for though Warren's to blame, I catch the curses Well Truefit, do the best you can?'

In spite of Truefit's sanguine prophecy it was full twenty five minutes before we were again under way I had gone back to Isabella, whose dilated blue eyes were glancing from one to another in the apprehensive agony of terror that no one but a nervous woman can fully appreciate

'Frank—Mr Atwater! do tell me what is the matter?'

'Only a hot box,'—there is no occasion for uneasiness'

'Upon your sacred honor?

'Upon my sacred honor Why, Isabel, how frightened you are! I can see you tremble even here What is the matter, child?'

'Sit down and I will tell you' she said, hurriedly motioning me toward a vacant seat directly back of her, I know it is a piece of mad folly—— but I must tell somebody or I shall go mad'

I sat down ... my elbows ... that my ... black veil

'First promise never to tell him—John' ...

... I first married him I thought it was ...

She ...

'Well, well?' I questioned.

'Now, I do not know what to think Oh, Mr Atwater, I ought not to say it, Frank, but I am the most miserable creature in the world!' 'Isabel!'

I am! He threatens sometimes to shut me up in a mad house, and perhaps I should be happier there than subject to his whims and cruelties Why do you suppose he brought me here to night?

'I am sure I do not know'

'He told me, she whispered, clasping her hands tightly together as she spoke, 'that we were coming to our death to night, and we must come together! Oh, Frank, what do you suppose he means?

'Only to terrify you' I said soothingly 'He is only a bundle of old Scotch superstitions, and always was'

'And Frank, once when I thought I heard footsteps close behind us, and turned my head to see, he jerked my arm and told me not to look—that—oh, Frank, it makes my blood run cold—that it was Death walking at our side!'

But Isabel, surely you will not allow yourself to be influenced by such folly'

'I told you it was folly,' she answered dejectedly, 'but—

A hand was laid on my arm at this moment, the hand of Carew, the Conductor

'Frank, look here, I want to speak to you,' he said hurriedly 'Come here—on the platform'

I followed him out into the stormy darkness of the March night where his lantern gleamed like a sullen, shifting eye

'What is it? Anything wrong?'

'Yes, and no Of course you know we're nearly a half an hour behind time, with not quite thirty minutes between us and the 'Lightning

'Yes What of it?

'Well, that old fool, MacLeod, has turned crusty, and says if we don't run out on the side track at Speedsville, the next station and wait for the 'Lightning' to pass, he'll not be answerable for the consequences'

'Who wants him to be answerable? I demanded, with considerable acerbity, not to say disdain'

'Well he says it's a bad night, track slippery, and all that sort of thing I suppose it's all very true But you know the 'Lady Franklin' of old She'll keep the thirty minutes between us and the Lightning, won't she'

'I should say there was no kind of doubt as to that Ain't you going to make up that lost time

'That's just the trouble The crack-brained old Scotch fool wants to stop and lose another half hour which we may just as well gain, and run into B——on time as to come trailing along behind the 'Lightning But MacLeod refused to run her unless I consent to his conditions Frank, why can't you take the 'Lady into B——?'

'I'll do it with all the pleasure in life'

Carew's face brightened at once

'What a lucky thing it is you happened to be on the train' he said, 'I should have been at Mac's mercy if it hadn't been for you Come on there is no time to be lost

I followed him through the long train to the engine, and entered the little inclosed compartment where McLeod sat among his screws and valves and dials, like some magician of old surrounded by the abstruse implements of art How like home this tiny place appeared to me! It seemed almost as if the Lady Franklin' shot more swiftly over the track as I stepped upon her MacLeod inclined his head stiffly in answer to my greeting He was a tall, spare Scotch man, with deepest blue eyes thatched with shaggy brows, and hair thickly sprinkled with gray, though he scarcely could have been more than forty years old His face was cold and repulsive, and his manner forbidding in the extremest degree Moreover he had a way exceedingly unpleasant to the spectator, of continually looking over his shoulder with a sort of spasmodic motion, as if he had suddenly seen or heard something close behind him As I threw myself down beside him he pointed to the place beyond

Sit there if you please, Mr Atwater

I wondered, but complied and Carew spoke pleasantly

'Well McLeod shall we put on steam and drive her ahead?'

'No, Mr Carew' said the Scotchman coldly and firmly 'Either we run on this side track three miles ahead as I have explained or else I leave the engine'

'But why are you so determined? I asked

'I don't conceive it my business to answer any of your questions, Francis Atwater,' said McLeod but I have no objection to gratify your curiosity I am so determined because I see farther than you or Mr. Carew here and I see danger—danger!

'How and where'

'You are a practical engineer, and ask where is the danger on such a night as this, with the 'Lightning Express' and we twenty five minutes after her time! Boy, do you know that we are not only responsible for Atwater, Carew and John McLeod but for all the passengers on the train? Do you want the sin of murder on your soul?

He spoke in a sharp voice that was almost a scream

'That is not the question,' said Carew, 'and all nonsense besides Isn't the light hung out behind and can't you tell when we are gaining or losing time? Once for all will you not do your best to gain time and keep ahead of the Lightning?

'No I will not!' he answered sullenly

Very well, here is a substitute that will make room for Mr Atwater'

'He can do as he pleases, said McLeod stiffly, rising to yield me his place 'I wash my hands of the whole thing, now and hereafter Bear witness, Carew and Atwater that I protest against this rash and foolhardy thing"

Not a word more did he utter, but sat down silent and rigid as a galvanized corpse, watching me with his set eyes until the very consciousness of that steady surveillance made me uncomfortable Uncomfortable but not nervous I never, in the whole course of my life, was more entirely in possession of all my faculties, or more composed than at that moment, as I mechanically examined screws and valves and satisfied myself as to the correctness of every detail All was right, McLeod was a good engineer, if not an agreeable companion

'Now then my Lady,' I said 'we'll see if you can keep up all your pluck!'

I turned to give some directions to the fireman and when I was about to sit down, McLeod seized my arm

'Not there' I tell you not there!'

'And why not there?' I demanded with a momentary fear crossing my mind that the man was deranged

'Because another occupies the place,' he cried in a shrill, shrieking voice he often used when much excited 'Death is a passenger on this train with us, and Death sits there ghastly and still!' No I know you don't see him, but second sight is a gift in the family I came from and I see him I would have warded off his errand, but you—you and that cursed Carew wouldn't let me Now go your own mad reckless way, and see where it will bring you And remember, Frank Atwater, that it is not your own worthless life that hangs in this balance, but the lives of all who travel on this train'

Argument with a man in this excited frame of mind would have been folly I sat down without a word, smiling in spite of myself, and resumed my intent supervision of the engine while McLeod sat silently by with folded arms

Never did the Lady Franklin show finer mettle than on that night The machinery was perfect, the cranks well oiled, the heat steady and intense The fireman worked in concert with me, fully comprehended my intentions, and the Lady rushed over the rails like a living breathing thing

'How are you getting along, Frank?' asked Carew, coming forward with his lantern as we left our first stopping place.

'Oh splendidly!' I answered

'I have just telegraphed back to Saldtown, we have gained five minutes on the Lightning already.'

I thought we were gaining, I replied quietly But I was very much excited The idea of pressing this magnificent piece of machinery to its utmost speed, of eluding the lightning pursuit of the Express which followed—pursued as if identifying my own nerves and sinews with ... of the Lady Franklin was ...

... not superstitious ... the magnetic effect, which the strong belief of another person, he ... I founded ...

... he and I were ... this little plan ...

'I wish we were at B——,' I thought, leaning my elbows upon the woodwork, and gazing out into the stormy night, athwart which our hogshead light threw a streaming banner of lurid light as it rushed along At this instant I felt a touch upon my shoulder

'Atwater,' said MacLeod in a husky, unnatural voice, 'if you have any prayers to say, say them now Death is very, very near you!'

A cold chill ran through me

'I am always prepared to meet death,' I answered, trying to speak composedly

'Death? Yes, but not death by suicide, Francis Atwater, nor do I wish longer to interfere The hour of grace is past

Oh! MacLeod, don't talk nonsense Go back in the baggage car and sleep the liquor off'

'You think I'm drunk You think I'm mad You take me to be superstitious I heard you—I heard you talking to her You'd best keep clear of her, young man You see this eh? and he drew a huge knife from his bosom

'Yes, I see it,' I answered, laying my hand upon the brake, as if I could use it for defense

'With this I could have silenced you long ago, and saved the victim you are sacrificing But I prefer not What is to be is to be as well might I endeavor to stem the current of the Mississippi with a straw, as to check the tide of fate with my feeble hand Only I would warn you to say a word or two of prayer before the fatal moment comes'

My heart seemed to stand still with deadly terror Was I indeed shut up in this narrow spot with a maniac? Would I be murdered before I could call for help? But I remembered that in coolness and presence of mind was my only chance of safety, and I resolved to abide the result We were now putting on brakes for our second and last stopping-place ere we reached B——

MacLeod sprang out upon the platform as we stopped, and went into the bar room adjoining the station I went back and spoke to one of the brakemen, an athletic Maine man, with thews and sinews of iron, and the stature of a giant

'Jim,' I said in a low voice—his name was Jim Torrance—'I want you to keep your eye on MacLeod and come on the locomotive with me He talks and acts strangely to night, and he may attempt violence'

'I saw him draw out that outlandish looking knife of his, sir, a minute or two ago,' said Jim shrewdly 'I could easily jerk it away from him when we are moveing again'

'No I do not wish you to use force of any kind, unless it is necessary I think he is harmless, but it is just as well to keep a little watch over him

'He's queer,' said Jim 'I'll keep an eye on him'

Once more after a ten minutes stop the little signal bell sounded Go ahead' the brakes moved noisily, and the wheels began to revolve MacLeod had not returned to his place by my side and I began heartily to hope that he designed to favor me no more with his society I let on the steam and was soon going at a rapid rate Three or four hundred yards from the depot the road ran through a deep cut, and just beyond it was a corresponding fill' or embankment about ten feet high The engineers, that is the surveyors, as we mechanical engineers insist, half sneeringly, in calling them had with very bad taste, made a compound curve here so that before entering the cut I saw nothing in it, and when I was in, I could see nothing beyond it So, of course, we had to go through with whistle blowing and usually at a slow gait But feeling in good spirits at MacLeod's absence, the prospect of a good run, having the 'Lady' in fine condition, with the trains we were to meet reported 'all right' and the track clear, I let the dogs loose opened valves, dashed through the cut, and—

Very, very nearly into eternity! Danger is said to be very facinating it is particularly so when you see it coming, have time to reflect upon it, and plan and execute a rescue for what you hope to prove so I saw it plainly that night the rail half removed, the figure of the mad man still bent at his hellish work I saw him as he completed it saw him shake his fist savagely at me and jump aside to watch the slaughter he had plotted I was not a second in sounding down brakes' not an instant in reversing the register, but nothing could have saved that train except the madman's 'lack of method,' or want of the skill of the despised surveyors For want of this knowledge, perhaps for want of time, MacLeod had removed but one rail, and the inside one of the curve I know that if I could check the 'Lady's speed she would not leave the track as the outside rail is the one which guides the train on a curve, and this was impact Jim Torrance had come on the locomotive with me, and I turned to tell him to jump for his life, when I saw him standing upright in the center of the tender grasping a huge block of wood, and his eyes gleaming like coals It was no time to look after his safety I saw him hurl the stick of wood at MacLeod as he ran down the embankment, and the next minute we struck the ground, and plunged into the break

My calculations had been correct Jolting violently over several cross ties, shattering cowcatcher and headlight,' smashing the baggage and first passenger car throwing Jim Torrance with great violence from the tender on to the locomotive, leaving him senseless by the shock and nearly throwing me on the boiler, the 'Lady' struck and stopped without leaving the track except upon the side where MacLeod had removed the rail We were disabled for the time, with nobody but Jim seriously injured

Except MacLeod Jim's aim had been too true, and the block of wood hurled with all his force gained additional velocity from that of the train, had struck him as he ran and felled him senseless—the fact is, as we soon found, dead The billet had struck him and killed him. Jim Torrance was never tried for it on earth, poor fellow, he's gone since, and I don't think they recorded any verdict against him in heaven

After Jim was taken care of, the lanterns put out ahead and behind us to warn approaching trains, and the disabled train was gone through to see after the wounded, John McLeod's corpse was taken up and carried back to the station which we had just left

'Frank said Carew, when matters were slightly settled again, who is to tell Mac's wife?'

'She does not suspect anything—that is, she don't know how it occurred'

She knows that there has been an accident, but she does not know that Mac was thrown out of the locomotive and was the only one killed'

Good! even Carew did not suspect how MacLeod had been felled by Torrance's blow and killed.

'I will tell her,' I said, determined that she should never know his crime nor learn how he had been terribly and suddenly punished

Her grief was terrible to witness She lay on my shoulder and sobbed half the night away, but it was less from the love of the man, who had always been cruel to her, than from her woman's nervousness. At the inquest next day, when she identified him, told the story of his misanthropy and superstition to the jury, she was more collected, and surprised me by her calmness The jury thought its course in the matter plain sailing—no suspicion of the man's crime arose; Torrance and myself were not examined, we kept our secret to ourselves and the jury brought in its verdict of death by accident' They knew nothing of his chief incentive to the crime—the chief cause of his death—jealousy

I've told the story of my midnight trip on the 'Lady Franklin' Is it necessary to tell any more? Sudden transitions from death scenes to marriage ceremonies are always as offensive in the telling as in the hearing, and therefore I think it useless, as well as in bad taste, to waste further words in saying that ever since, by God's help I've made her a happy wife, and repaired the wrongs of her youth by being a good and kind husband to her

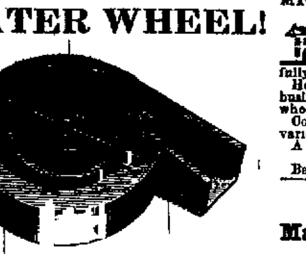
Notice to Mill Owners and Millwrights.

Improved Lever Pressure Centre-Vent,

ECONOMIZING

WATER WHEEL!



Invented and Patented by W. R. Close,

BANGOR, MAINE

THE Subscribers would ask the attention of Mill Owners, and others interested in Water Wheels to their Patent Centre Vent Wheels manufactured at T N Egery's Foundry

The great demand for these wheels have made it necessary for the proprietors to add several more sizes to their former list, and their arrangements are now such that they can generally fill an order in one day after it is received

We claim superiority over other Wheels for various reasons, the chief of which is the economical use of Water Trials of these Wheels the past season have demonstrated the fact that they will do the same work with one half the water required for any other Wheel used on the Penobscot River

Second —The amount of water vented upon the wheel is self regulated by a device embodied in the Patent hence when the Saw is out of the cut, or the labor is in any way decreased, the speed of the wheel remains the same thereby avoiding shocks to the machinery, and those break downs which result from the sudden acceleration of speed, when a wheel does not regulate itself.

Third —This is an anti freezing Wheel by a patented arrangement that trouble in wheels run in Northern climates is avoided. This Wheel needs no "cutting out" it never freezes

Fourth —It is equally well adapted to both horizontal and vertical Shafts it is cheaper than any other wheel, and can be readily applied to any old wooden or iron shaft, without change of gearing

☞By using this Wheel a large majority of Mills can run double the time that they now do for the reason that it can run with half the water required for any other! hence all those owning Mills on Streams where the water is limited, will see the advantage of using these Wheels

FREEDOM, January 28th, 1867

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—Gents—I have removed from my Saw Mill a Rose Water Wheel, and put instead one of your Patent Water Wheels of five feet diameter, made at T N Egery's foundry in Bangor I am driving with it under eleven feet head a single Saw, and haul up with but one hundred and ten and a half (110½) inches of water, let on to the wheel through a spout measuring six and a half (6½) inches by seventeen (17) at the pitch I have not let on to the wheel over one half of that amount, and I am pleased to say that I can saw more than twice as much lumber and my saw goes much quicker and stronger than it did with the Rose Wheel, with all the water I could get on to it.

I cheerfully recommend your wheel to all who may be in want of wheels, especially upon privileges where the amount of water is limited

Respectfully yours ELLIOT H BANTON.

GREENFIELD Nov 12th, 1866

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—This is to certify that I have been using one of your seven feet Water Wheels in place of a Stearns' Wheel, removed, and after a thorough trial I am satisfied I can do the same amount of work with one quarter the amount of water, formerly used with the Stearns Wheel

The water is let on the wheel through a trunk 9 inches wide and 17 inches high measuring 153 square inches of water, but I do not consider that I use more than one half that amount direct from the flume Yours &c. R L McFARLAND

HAMPDEN, March 22d, 1867.

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—I have this winter removed from my mill a Tub Wheel, and put instead of it one of your seven feet wheels to drive a Double Lath Mill and Cutting off Saw, to saw laths from round stuff

I have seven feet head when the tide is down, and at high water in a high course of tides, the water rises four feet over the top of the wheel, thus giving only three feet head and I am pleased to say that with the amount of back water the wheel drives all my saws fully up to speed, and gives abundance of power to do all the work the saws are capable of doing The wheel gives perfect satisfaction, and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be in want of wheels, especially where the supply of water is short or where there is back water

Respectfully yours, S F. LEIGHTON

BRADLEY, March 25th 1867

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—We have in our mill at this place, a 5 feet 9 inch Wheel of your make and are driving with it a Double Lath Mill and Cutting off Saw making laths out of round timber, which requires a great deal of power

Your wheel furnishes ample power and drives the saws up to speed, and we consider it does not use more than one half the amount of water that is required for the best wheel we have ever seen before, and cheerfully recommend it as the best wheel we have ever seen Very respectfully yours,

ESTABROOK & COMINS.

BRADLEY, March 13th, 1867.

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—We have the past winter put into our mill a 5 feet 9 inch Close Patent Water Wheel, to drive a Double Lath Mill and Cutting off Saw, and are pleased to say it gives all the power the inventor claimed for it It drives our saws all up to speed and gives a large surplus of power, and does not use more than one half the amount of water of any other wheel we have ever used

We take pleasure in recommending these wheels as the best and most economical in the use of water of any we have ever seen

Yours truly A A BLACKMAN & CO

BANGOR, Sept. 21, 1866

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—Gents—Having put in operation in one our new Saw Mill at West Great Works, Oldtown, one of your new patent Mill Wheels manufactured at Egery's foundry in this city, and fully tested it, we take pleasure in saying that it more than meets our expectations. We are now driving with it, under a nine and one-half feet head one Clapboard, Sapping and Shingle machines Shingle jointer and two Cutting off saws with but 204 inches of water admitted or let on to the wheel through a trunk or spout measuring 12 inches wide and 17 inches high. Its operation gives us entire satisfaction, and we consider it superior to any other wheel within our knowledge, and cheerfully recommend it to those in want of wheels

W H SMITH
WM T PEARSON.

BANGOR, Sept. 21, 1866

Having witnessed the operation of the above Water Wheel in the mills of Messrs. Smith & Pearson at West Great Works, also in the mills of Messrs. Copeland, in Holden and in Messrs Comins' mill, in Bradley, both driving a 50 inch circular saw mill, I can with full confidence recommend them as possessing and combining qualities for power, economy in water regularity of speed and cheapness of construction, over any other water wheel known to me.

THOS N EGERY

NEWPORT, Sept. 24th 1866.

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—Gents—This may certify that I assisted the past summer in putting into the West Great Works mills at Oldtown, for Messrs Smith & Pearson, one of your Patent Water Wheels, of seven feet diameter, made at T N Egery's foundry, and am pleased to say that in my opinion it requires for its successful operation the least quantity of water of any wheel I have ever seen, and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be in want of wheels, especially upon privileges where the amount of water is limited

J C. CHANDLER, Millwright

WEST GREAT WORKS, Oldtown, Sept 26, 1866

Having as millwright, under the direction of Messrs Smith & Pearson, charge of the erection of their new saw mills at this place, in which one of Close's Patented Water Wheels has been put in operation I fully concur in the opinion given by Messrs Smith & Pearson and Mr Egery, as to the merits of said wheel

DAVID GATCHELL Master Millwright.

BRADLEY, July, 27, 1866.

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—Gentlemen—We have lately removed from our saw mill a wooden Centre Vent water wheel, and put instead one of your Patent Water Wheels, and after a thorough trial we are satisfied that we can drive our Rotary saw Edger and Trimmer saws and haul up with one half the amount of water we used with our wooden Centre Vent wheel, which we have always considered and know to be a very economical wheel, on a privilege where the amount of water is limited

We take pleasure in recommending your wheels to all who use water wheels, especially to such as have a limited supply of water

Respectfully yours, J W & J M COMINS

HOLDEN, April 13th 1866

Messrs Dinsmore & Close—This may certify that I have lately removed from my saw mill a Brastow Water Wheel," and put instead one of your Water Wheels, and after a thorough trial am satisfied that I can saw twice the amount of lumber I formerly sawed and use not more than one third the amount of water formerly used with the Brastow Wheel which wheel I have always considered a very economical one, on a privilege where the amount of water was limited.

And I take pleasure in recommending your Wheel to all who use water wheels and especially to such as have a limited supply of water recommend to investors the

First Mortgage Bonds

OF THE

CENTRAL

Pacific R. R. Co.,

This Company is constructing under the patronage of the

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT,

the Western end of the Great National Railway across the Continent

Their line will extend from Sacramento California, across the Sierra Nevadas to the California State line, traversing the richest and most populous section of California and thence through the great mining regions of the Territories, to the vicinity of Salt Lake City

It forms the sole Western link of the only route to the Pacific, which is adopted by Congress and aided by the issue of UNITED STATES BONDS

Their road is already completed equipped and running for 94 miles from Sacramento to within 12 miles of the summit of the Sierras and a large amount of the work of Grading, Tunnelling &c, beyond that point has been accomplished

The FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of the Company afford unusual inducements of Safety and Profit to Investors for the following among other reasons viz

First The rate of interest is Six per Cent in Gold, payable semi annually in the City of New York

Second The Principal is payable in Gold at maturity

Third The cost of the Bonds, Ninety five per Cent and accrued interest, is Ten Per Cent. less than that of the cheapest Six Per Cent Gold Bearing Bonds of the Government

Fourth The United States Government provides nearly half the amount necessary to build the entire road, and looks mainly to a small percentage on the future traffic for re payment

Fifth Owing to this liberal provision, accompanied with Extensive Grants of Public Lands, by which the Government fosters this great national enterprise, its success is rendered certain and its financial stability is altogether independent of the contingencies which attend ordinary railroad enterprises

Sixth The Security of its First Mortgage Bonds is therefore ample, and their character for safety and reliability is equalled only by that of the obligations of the Government itself

Seventh The net earnings of the completed portion are already largely in excess of the interest obligations which the Company will incur on twice the distance, and are steadily increasing, rendering the uninterrupted payment of the Interest absolutely certain

Eighth At the present rate of Gold they pay nearly 8½ per cent per annum, on the amount invested

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $1 000 with semi-annual Gold Coupons attached, payable in New York, and are offered for the present at 95 per cent, and accrued interest (in currency) from January 1st.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise, will receive punctual attention

An Invaluable Medicine for the Purifying of the Blood.

Dr. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

A POSITIVE REMEDY FOR ALL KINDS OF HUMORS,

PARTICULARLY

Erysipelas, Nettle Rash Salt Rheum Scrofula, Carbuncles, Boils & Piles

IT IS VERY E... SAY OF THIS OR ANY other Medicine ... the very best Remedy known' It is not ... so easy to prove it It is however exceedingly gratifying to the proprietor of this Medicine that while he declares to the public that this is a most wonderful and effective Specific for Humors, as stated above he has abundant proof at hand to sustain his statements

For sixteen years the HUMOR DOCTOR has been manufactured and sold and every year has increased the value of its reputation, and the amount of its sales In New Hampshire, where it was originated, no remedy for Humors is so highly prized— An eminent physician (now an army surgeon) when practicing in N H purchased between fifty and sixty gallons of it during seven or eight years and used it in his practice He has since then ordered it for the hospital where he was stationed Other physicians have purchased it, and have used it in practice with great success When the proprietor lived in New Hampshire at Goffstown Centre for the space of thirty or forty miles around and in Manchester particularly, the Humor Doctor was well known and highly valued for the numerous and wonderful cures which it effected Though manufactured in large quantities, the supply was frequently exhausted, and purchasers had to wait for more to be made. In that region, some very severe cases of erysipelas were treated with it,—and they were cured. Erysipelas sores, or carbuncles those ugly painful ulcers were entirely removed wherever this medicine was faithfully used So it was with Scrofula and Salt Rheum The Humor Doctor cured them

Since the Proprietor's removal to Melrose Mass. his present residence he has been regularly selling it to patients who have applied to him in person and has been very successful in relieving and curing them One case of Erysipelas—of an old man 72 years—is worth mentioning in particular When he came to the Doctor's office he could only wear a pair of old rubber overshoes, his feet and ankles were so swollen and sore When he pulled off his socks the scales came with them, and the raw, bleeding feet, were frightful to behold Suffice it to say, that less than one dozen bottles of the Humor Doctor (and in a few weeks) healed up those feet and ankles so that they were smooth and apparently sound The man wore boots without inconvenience. Numerous cases of pimples in the face have been treated with this medicine to the entire eradication of them In Melrose alone there are more than a hundred persons who have used the Humor Doctor and give it an excellent name In all the towns around it is well known and approved

For the sake of showing what is thought of it, a few testimonials are here inserted

MILTON GALE, ESQ., Boston

I hereby certify that I was sorely afflicted with boils for two years, developing themselves upon my limbs, and other parts of my body The sufferings which I endured from them are indescribable Suffice it to say that I faithfully tried several of the most popular humor remedies, but without removing the affection At length by the earnest request of an intimate friend, I was induced to try Dr J W Poland's Humor Doctor and am very happy to attest that all my boils were removed and my health was restored by using Dr Poland's aforesaid medicine MILTON GALE

Boston, January 11th 1856

MRS. WHEELER, Stoneham, Mass

I very confidently and earnestly recommend Dr. J W Poland's Humor Doctor as an excellent remedy for Humors, having been wonderfully benefitted by it myself. My own case was a very severe and obstinate one. For more than two years the skin upon the inside of both my hands, and even down on the wrist, was constantly cracked and broken up, so that I was unable to use my hands in any kind of wet work, and was obliged to wear gloves in sewing to avoid getting blood upon my work—The humor which so afflicted me was probably a combination of Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. My general health was quite poor. Soon after I began to use the Humor Doctor, I could perceive signs of healing I continued to take the medicine till I was finally cured. My hands are now perfectly free from humors, and to all appearances my whole system is clear of it, and has been for several months I used eight bottles before I felt safe to give it entirely up, but they cured me.

MARGARET WHEELER.
